MATHURA AND VRINDAVAN (UTTAR PRADESH)

These cities are associated with Lord Krishna and Holi celebrations here are vibrant and traditional. The week-long festivities include the famous Lathmar Holi of Barsana and Nandgaon.

On the other hand, "Phoolwali Holi" is celebrated at Banke Bihari Temple, where flowers are showered instead of the traditional colored powder.

During Holi, Mathura and Vrindavan come alive with traditional folk performances that include music, dance and drama depicting the life of Lord Krishna. The Braj region, of which Mathura and Vrindavan are a part, is particularly known for its rich cultural heritage.

VARANASI (UTTAR PRADESH)

Holi is celebrated with great enthusiasm in Varanasi, the spiritual city situated on the banks of Ganga. The ghats come alive with colours, and people gather to play Holi and watch the lively procession. Varanasi is a cultural centre, with traditional music and dance performances often a part of Holi celebrations. Folk artists, musicians and dancers showcase their talents, adding to the festive spirit of the occasion.

Holi is also a time to enjoy special sweets and festive foods.

Gujhiya, a sweet dumpling filled with khoya (milk solids) and dry fruits, is a popular Holi dish. People exchange these sweets with friends and family as a symbol of goodwill.

JAIPUR (RAJASTHAN)

The Pink City Jaipur organizes a grand Holi festival at the City Palace. The festivities include traditional music, dance and throwing of colors in the backdrop of the majestic palace. Traditional Rajasthani folk dances like Ghoomar and Kalbeliya are performed, and musicians play lively tunes on traditional instruments. Get 12 seater tempo traveller for family on rent at the budget cost.

ANANDPUR SAHIB (PUNJAB)

Hola Mohalla, the Sikh festival celebrated a day after Holi, is a grand martial display of bravery and courage. It attracts large numbers of visitors who watch martial arts demonstrations and mock battles.

SHANTINIKETAN (WEST BENGAL)

Holi celebration in Shantiniketan is unique and cultural. Inspired by Nobel laureate Rabindranath Tagore, the celebrations here include cultural programmes, traditional dances and application of natural colours. The celebration often ends with a community feast, where people come together to share delicious traditional Bengali dishes.

DELHI

There are vibrant Holi celebrations in the capital city, especially in areas like Paharganj and Connaught Place. Youth gather in large numbers to play with colors and enjoy the music festivals organized in different parts of the city. Many communities organize special events, cultural programs and gatherings where people come together to play Holi.

GOA

While Goa is primarily known for its beaches and vibrant nightlife, it also hosts lively Holi celebrations. Beaches, streets and public spaces become a riot of colors as locals and tourists alike take part in the joyous celebration. The festive atmosphere is often accompanied by music, dance and traditional Holi songs.

MUMBAI (MAHARASHTRA)

Most cities celebrate Holi with great enthusiasm. From Bollywood celebrities hosting grand Holi parties to public celebrations in areas like Juhu Beach, Mumbai offers a diverse range of Holi experiences.

PUSHKAR (RAJASTHAN)

Known for its colorful and vibrant atmosphere, Pushkar hosts a unique Holi celebration with a cultural twist. The festivities include folk music, dance and traditional color throwing.

UDAIPUR (RAJASTHAN)

The city of lakes becomes even more picturesque during Holi. The royal city celebrates with grandeur, involving processions, cultural programs and the play of colors against the backdrop of stunning palaces and lakes.
